

BIZ

THE VALLEY'S INTELLIGENCE FOR BUSINESS LEADERS

COVER PHOTO BY HUB WILSON

- 4 20 Questions: Christopher L. Bennick
The new head of Habitat for Humanity gets on the Biz hot seat.
- 7 Office Politics: Check, or Checkmate!
Ignoring your employees' pasts could cost you the future of your business.
- 8 In The Beginning: Bienvenido a las news!
One year later, WFMC's Spanish news broadcast is doing muy bien.
- 10 Life in a Day: A Real Ironman
John Potter knows what's scarier than grueling triathlon workouts: awful gums.
- 14 Money Matters: A Super Deal For Whom?
Keystone/Nazareth National merger clouds future of small banks.
- 16 To Your Health: Woe, OB Gone
Malpractice insurance is driving obstetricians out of state and out of the profession.

- 22 Biz Tech: No Hot Spot for Hotspots
Security concerns among reasons Wi-Fi has yet to take hold here.
- 24 Cover Story: A Social Club, It Isn't
It's all business—and total independence—for new Hispanic Chamber.
- 28 What's Your Pleasure?: Not Suffering For Their Art
Galleries are effectively getting their names, and their art, to the masses.
- 31 Legal Briefs: Whose Rights Are They, Anyway?
Owners, tenants should negotiate right to appeal real estate tax assessments.
- 32 The Last Word: Where the Top Jobs Aren't
Cultivating high-end, well-paying jobs is imperative if the Valley wants to prosper.

Like a comic book figure, he's a periodontist by day, superathlete by night. See story on page 10.

IRON MAN